The Story of Baragaon

Inspired by the village of Baragaon and the life of the weavers there, we began with the aim of assisting weavers in distress. We started off in this quaint little village in the Barabanki district of Uttar Pradesh, around 40 kms east of the state capita, Lucknow, close to the popular pilgrimage shrines of Deva Sarif and Basa Sharif.

The district of Barabanki used to be a huge cluster of cotton handloom weaving, untill recently. The traditional range product included yardage for shirts and kurtas, gamchas and the houndtooth scarves used by men. Since 2013, the product range has expanded to include sarees, yardages for menaswear as well as womenswear, dupattas, fashionable stoles and scarves.

We have also worked on value addition by using minimal Zardozi work, traditional embroideries like Chikari of Lucknow and Kashidakari from Kashmir.

Our ambition is to provide just and dignified wages, keeping handlooms fashionable and exclusive, all the while expanding the market for handloom products. Our inspiration is the complex craft of handloom weaving and the skill of our weavers. Our challenge is to make a niche and stop the exploitation of weavers in the current scenario of mechanisation.
